

Attorney James C. Bradbury joins Mirick Personal Injury Litigation Team

September 25, 2025 | In The News

Mirick welcomes Attorney James C. Bradbury to the Firm as a Partner in the Personal Injury Litigation Group. The Group provides passionate and dedicated representation to individuals and their families in wrongful death and catastrophic injury cases.

“We are very excited to welcome Jim to our Group”, said Ted Bassett, Chair of Mirick’s Personal Injury Practice Group. “He combines experience and exceptional legal skills with character, integrity and persistence towards the goal of delivering the best possible results for clients.”

“I’m thrilled to be joining Mirick,” Bradbury said. “I’ve long admired the firm’s stellar reputation in the community and the longevity of both its attorneys and professionals.”

Jim has extensive experience in all aspects of both civil and criminal litigation. His primary practice is personal injury litigation, carried out with a firm commitment to protecting clients’ rights and securing the outcomes they deserve.

A native of Birmingham, England, Jim completed his undergraduate studies at the University of Portsmouth before moving to the United States. Following a career in human services, he graduated law school. He is active in the local community, volunteering for high school and middle school mock trial teams, coaching youth soccer and a long-time member of the Paxton Lions Club.
