strategies and scrupulous attention to detail to help you avoid potentially contentious situations. You can count on our team to provide clear, practical, common-sense advice without convoluted legalese.

From the Straightforward to the Sophisticated

From the straightforward to the sophisticated, our full-service real estate practice handles it all. Our close-knit team is equally skilled at working through a stack of conveyancing documents as ushering through a complex permit application or zoning appeal. We have extensive experience with the redevelopment of former manufacturing properties and the conversion of existing structures into residential and commercial condominiums, including advice on subsequent condominium association governance and management.

Landlords and tenants alike turn to us to negotiate and draft their leases and subleases for office, retail and shopping center, industrial, warehouse, biomedical, and R&D spaces. With experience on both sides of the aisle, we help you maintain positive tenant/landlord relationships over the long term. We have worked on significant national and regional leasing matters and a number of financial institutions turn to our team when building out their branch networks across the region. Our wide-ranging experience extends to the growing area of renewable energy leases.

A diverse client base gives us insight into a wide range of industries, allowing us to provide the strategic advice you need to make well-informed business decisions. We advise clients on all matters related to commercial, industrial, and mixed-use projects across industries, including:

- Biomedical
- Cannabis
- Education
- Financial Institutions
- Gaming
- Healthcare
- Hospitality
- Industrial/Manufacturing

Banking & Finance
Commercial Real Estate
Construction
Government & Municipalities
Healthcare

- R&D
- Retail

Today, every project is subject to some degree of environmental scrutiny. Our team has the knowledge, experience, network and contacts to navigate the evolving landscape of federal, state, and local regulation, including permitting and environmental liability issues. When necessary, our experienced Real Estate and Environmental Litigation team can offer you creative and cost-effective solutions in all types of real estate, land use, and environmental conflicts.

Many members of our Real Estate and Environmental practice are involved with local government, local and regional chambers of commerce, and actively participate in the 495/MetroWest Partnership, sharing that organization's dedication to the growth and development of our region.
