Overview

Brian is a partner in the firm's Public and Municipal Law Group and Real Estate and Environmental Law Group. Practicing as a local government and land use permitting attorney for almost 20 years, Brian is a trusted, pragmatic problem-solver in town halls and city halls throughout Massachusetts.

In his municipal practice, Brian counsels towns, cities, and districts in all areas of municipal law, including general governance, home rule, town meeting procedure, zoning, real estate, elections, finance, community preservation, procurement, and public construction. Brian advises local officials on compliance with the Open Meeting Law, Public Records Law, and Conflict of Interest Law, and has extensive experience drafting town meeting warrants, bylaws, ordinances, and special legislation.

As local permitting counsel, Brian regularly appears before municipal boards on behalf of applicants seeking special permits, variances, licenses, zoning amendments, and other local approvals for large projects and challenging sites.
